A.R. Ameen represents a new generation of global creatives moving fluidly between music, entrepreneurship, culture, and innovation.

As an artist, Ameen is building a sound shaped by his Indian roots and a global musical perspective. As an entrepreneur, he is creating platforms designed to give artists greater freedom, encourage collaboration, and connect new sounds with audiences around the world.

His journey is not simply about following a path.

It is about building one.

ARTIST

Artist. Entrepreneur. Creative Visionary.

For A.R. Ameen, music begins with emotion.

His artistic journey has taken him from Indian cinema and live stages around the world to a new chapter centered on independent music, original collaborations, and a sound increasingly his own.

Ameen first reached audiences through songs including Maula Wa Sallim, followed by performances at sold-out venues globally, and recordings across multiple Indian languages. His work has continued to evolve through film music, independent releases, and collaborations with artists and creators from different musical worlds. His 2026 release Bheegi Bheegi marked another step in that evolution and the beginning of a new chapter through Rooh Records.

Rather than defining himself through one genre, language, or market, Ameen approaches music with curiosity.

Indian musical traditions can meet contemporary pop.

Cinematic storytelling can meet independent music.

Sounds from different cultures can exist within the same creative world.

A Global Perspective

Ameen's ambition is to create music that travels beyond geography.

That means collaborating across cultures, experimenting with new genres, and bringing together artists whose musical identities might otherwise never intersect.

The goal is simple:

Create music that feels personal enough to be authentic and universal enough to connect.

ENTREPRENEUR

Building the Future of Creative Culture

A.R. Ameen approaches entrepreneurship the same way he approaches music: with curiosity, independence, and a long-term perspective.

His interests sit at the intersection of music, technology, entertainment, culture and creative enterprise. Rather than viewing an artist's role as beginning and ending with the music, Ameen sees an opportunity to build ecosystems around creativity platforms that can discover talent, encourage experimentation, create meaningful intellectual property, and connect artists with audiences around the world.

ROOH RECORDS

That philosophy led to the creation of Rooh Records, a venture founded by A.R. Ameen.

“Rooh” means soul.

The idea behind the company is equally fundamental: create a home where music can be developed with patience, authenticity, and creative freedom.

Rooh Records was conceived as a platform for new sounds, new voices, and new-age storytelling, combining emotional depth with contemporary production and an international outlook.

For Ameen, building Rooh is not about chasing short-term attention. It is about developing something with the strength and identity to endure.

BEYOND THE RECORD LABEL

Rooh represents the beginning of a broader entrepreneurial journey.

Ameen is interested in businesses and partnerships that can reshape how creativity is developed, experienced, and shared.

Areas of exploration include:

Music & Intellectual Property

Developing original music, catalogs, and long-term creative assets.

Artist Development

Creating opportunities for emerging artists, producers, writers, and collaborators.

Technology

Exploring how emerging technologies can expand music creation, distribution and fan experiences.

Live & Experiential Entertainment

Building experiences that connect audiences with music beyond traditional recordings.

Global Collaboration

Creating bridges between India and creative communities worldwide.

Culture & Lifestyle

Developing ideas where music, design, media, and contemporary culture intersect. Technology, investments, fashion, wellness, film, philanthropy.

THE VISION

A.R. Ameen's goal is to build a world around sound.

The next generation of creative companies will not fit neatly into one category.

Neither will the people building them.

Ameen's entrepreneurial vision is to build ventures where creativity and commerce are strengthened by one another, without compromising the soul of the music.
